

WILSON TALKS CHINA

Explains Viewpoint on Withdrawal From "Six Power Loan"

POLICIES TOWARD CHINA

Withdrawal Does Not Mean Retirement of U. S. From Participation in Eastern Diplomacy.

WASHINGTON, MARCH 22.—President Wilson's recent statement withdrawing the aid of this government from what was popularly known as the "six power loan," does not mean the retirement of the United States from participation in far eastern diplomacy.

The president today talked about China informally with some of his callers, among them George Bronson Rhea, technical secretary of the railway committee empowered by Chinese provisional government to construct 10,000 miles of trunk railways in China.

Mr. Rhea explained to the president that without the aid of the United States government American capital had been enlisted in the railway enterprise but that it was desirable to know how far the United States would go in protecting what Mr. Rhea termed "honorable contracts between American business men and the Chinese government" independent of political connection. The president asked Mr. Rhea to prepare and submit to him a memorandum and promised to study the question very carefully.

Approved in China.

Mr. Rhea pointed out that the objectionable features of the six power loan project, to which China herself had objected, were those which concerned the internal administration of China and that his relations with Sun Yat Sen and the Chinese republic were such that he knew the action of President Wilson had met with approval in China.

Mr. Wilson indicated that the development of the administration's policies toward China would be gradual and well measured. That there was no intention of withdrawing the potential influence for protection which this government has exerted in respect of China and that the Wilson administration would make a vigorous effort to promote American trade in the Orient was the impression gathered by some of the president's callers.

The president's viewpoint, it was said, was that the United States would be in a far better position to help preserve the integrity of China by remaining outside of any particular agreements which might have for their object a voice in China's political future than by actual participation.

Can Be of More Service.

The Wilson administration thinks it can carry more favor with China and be of more actual service as a disinterested friend than as an ambitious partner in any loan agreement, which by its terms might bind the United States to future programs of the powers with respect to China. The policy of the United States has been but partially announced, this government thus far having given expressions merely to its aversion to the idea of interfering with China's internal affairs.

That a pronouncement soon might be made by President Wilson setting forth the hopes of this government for a share in the trade and commerce of the new republic through what it believes more legitimate means is hinted at in official circles.

Post Offered John R. Mott.

Of especial significance at this time, is the definite statement that President Wilson is earnestly seeking John R. Mott, one of the prominent international secretaries of the Y. M. C. A., to take the post of minister to China. It is suggested in official circles that the administration recognize the influence which American missions and religious institutions have had in the regeneration of China and believes Mr. Mott could be an important factor in the harmonious discharge of the best views of the mission world with respect to China, and the Washington administration as well.

With the acceptance by Mr. Mott and perhaps a supplementary statement on the American attitude toward securing trade development in the Orient it is believed the climax of the Chinese situation will be the formal recognition by this government of the Chinese republic.

CONNAUGHTS DEPART FROM CANADA.

Halifax, N. S., March 22.—The Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada, and his party arrived in Halifax today to take passage on the steamship Empress of Britain sailing for England. His Royal Highness declined to discuss the matter of his rumored retirement from the governor generalship, though the general impression is that he expects to return to his post at Ottawa early in the summer. The Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia are accompanying the duke to England. Owing to the poor health of the duchess neither she nor her daughter will return to Canada.

ONLY SIX CHOSEN FOR JURY DUTY

JUDGE ISSUES ORDER FOR SECOND SPECIAL VENUE

Recent Law Passed by Legislature Causes Attorneys and Judge Much Worry in Ray Pfanschmidt Murder Trial.

QUINCY, ILL., MARCH 22.—Judge Guy Williams this afternoon issued an order for the second special venire of 100 men from which to select the jurors to try the case of Ray Pfanschmidt on trial in the circuit court here on a quadruple murder charge. The first special venire of 100 men was exhausted this afternoon and of the number but six had qualified as fair and impartial jurors. Talesman after talesman relied upon without hesitation that they had opinions as to the guilt or the innocence of the defendant. It is hoped that the special venire will be ready to report Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at which time the work of selecting the second half of the jury will begin.

The recent law passed by the legislature of Illinois purposely to make legal the trial of Ray Pfanschmidt caused the attorneys and the judge considerable worry this afternoon. The purpose of the law is to allow a case on trial at the end of one term of court to continue itself automatically into the next term of court. The January term of the circuit court closes to day. The March term begins Monday. The new law, however, reads:

"The court shall continue in session," the argument hinged over the fact that one court could not be in session at both the January and March terms at the same time. Judge Williams finally adjourned the January term of court except as to the case now on trial. In this way the Pfanschmidt case may be continued next week at the January term while other cases may be called in the circuit court with another judge sitting at the March term.

The case of Ray Pfanschmidt for the murder of his father and of Miss Emma Katten were to day continued until the March term. The case for the murder of his mother was nolle prossed by State Attorney Wolfe. Should the case at present on trial, that of the murder of his sister, Blanche Pfanschmidt, fall for any technical reason there would be nothing to prevent the re-arrest and re-indictment of the defendant on the charge of murder of his mother.

NAVY DECIDES ON NEW SYSTEM FOR TRAINING OF MIDSHIPMEN

Will Develop Boys in Duties of Seamanship and Navigation During Summer Vacation Periods During Last Years' of Their Course.

Washington, March 22.—To compensate for the abolition by congress of two years sea duty required of midshipmen before they become ensigns, the navy department has decided to develop the boys in the larger duties of seamanship and navigation during the summer vacation periods of the last three years of their four year course.

This year the third classmen will be sent on a cruise to European waters on the battleship Illinois. Many of them will be assigned junior officer's duty and thus be taught to handle men. The bulk of the first and second class will be divided among the battleships of the fleet in squads of about 25. These will be required to study radio-telegraphy and all kinds of practical naval work, while assuming a certain part of the ships routine deck and division duties. This training will aid in fitting them for the duties of an officer when they receive their ensign commissions.

BAN ON THE DEADLY HAT PIN.

New Orleans, La., March 22.—The anti-hat pin ordinance will come into effect in New Orleans on Monday, and after which day every woman must provide a guard for her hat pins or lay herself liable to fine or imprisonment. Thousands of women have protested against the new ordinance. On the other hand members of the Era Club, a woman's organization, have volunteered to act as inspectors and proffer charges against any woman violating the law.

CHINESE TO DIE FOR MURDER.

New York, March 22.—Yee Dock and Eng Hing, two members of the Chinese Hip Sing Tong, are under sentence to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing next Monday. The two were convicted of murder in connection with the tong war that raged furiously in Chinatown here a year ago. Their conviction and sentence to death were causes for satisfaction on the part of the New York police, who have always found it a most difficult matter to secure convictions in such cases. The principal witnesses against Yee Dock and Eng Hing were two Philadelphia girls, who drifted into Chinatown.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE CLUB.

The Social Domestic Science club met Friday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Kirk with a large attendance. After the routine of business suitable refreshments were served. Mrs. Kirk was assisted by Mrs. Charles Jackson, Mrs. Mary Robinson and Mrs. E. Weir. The club adjourned to meet April 3 with Mrs. Lena Mitchell on Anna street.

EMPLOYEES UPHOLD CONTENTION OF ROADS

SAY DEMANDS OF FIREMEN FOR HIGHER WAGES ARE NOT JUSTIFIED

Men Declare That While Locomotive Have Increased in Size Mechanical Improvements Have Lightened the Labors of the Firemen.

NEW YORK, MARCH 22.—Employees of the Baltimore & Ohio, the Pennsylvania and the Delaware Lackawanna & Western railroads took the stand before the arbitration board to day to uphold the contention of the Eastern railroads that the demands of their firemen for higher wages are not justified. It was the second day of the railroad proceedings under the Erdman act. These witnesses declared that while locomotives had increased in size and burned more coal than formerly mechanical improvements had lightened the labors of the firemen.

S. G. Wise, assistant road foreman of the middle division of the Pennsylvania at Altoona, Pa., and ten years a fireman, said that he did not think the firemen should share in the increased revenue of the railroads.

"The stockholders have put their money in the road," he said, "and they ought to have the profits. The engines are better constructed now. They do use more coal, but they steam better."

Wise said that while working as a fireman and engineer he had saved enough to own his home. In 1902 he said, firemen drew from $50 to $70 a month but they worked harder than the men who now draw $100 a month and sometimes more.

A. E. Staub, statistician of the Delaware and Lackawanna and Western, presented figures to show that two firemen on a large locomotive saved only an average of eight minutes a trip. Two firemen for the heavier engines is one of the demands of the employees. To this W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen replied that the tonnage increased greatly when the additional fireman was put on.

The hearing will continue Monday.

VICE COMMISSION PETITIONS WILSON

President Will Consider Calling Conference for Discussion of Social Evil

REMEDIES SUGGESTED

Bachelor Tax and Abolition of Joy Rides and Rag Time Dancing are Among Remedies

EARLY MARRIAGES ARE URGED

WASHINGTON, MARCH 22.—The whipping posts for white slave traffickers and seducers of women, a tax upon bachelorhood, more careful training of children and abolition of joy-rides and ragtime dancing were advocated as remedies for the social evil at a hearing here to day conducted by the Illinois senatorial vice commission which came to Washington primarily to interest President Wilson in a nation-wide crusade.

The commission secured the promise of President Wilson to consider their request for him to call a conference of governors and representatives of vice commissioners from various states to study the social problem, the conference to be held in Washington as soon as possible. Congressman Robert Hill of Illinois, agreed, upon request of the committee to introduce in congress a bill creating a commission to look into vice conditions in the District of Columbia.

Wage Question Discussed

At the hearing attended by many prominent women and men interested in social welfare, the low wage question as a cause of girls going wrong was discussed, several witnesses deprecating the idea, insisting that lack of education and resisting force had much more to do with the downfall of women. Men, too, were blamed as primarily responsible for the degradation of girls.

Witnesses who declared that the low wages were not responsible for social vice admitted, however, on being questioned by Lieutenant Governor O'Hara, head of the commission, that higher wages for working girls would better equip them to resist evil and all recommended that a minimum wage law for girls would be a great benefit.

Eight dollars a week as a minimum wage for women was the generally accepted sum estimated by the witnesses. Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, wife of the former chief of the bureau of chemistry being one who proposed that sum as a minimum living wage for girls.

Mrs. Wiley advocated sex hygiene instruction of young as one of the remedies for the social evil, urged women police for cities and enfranchisement of women.

"Give us the franchise," she said, "and we will raise the age of consent to that twelve year old girls cannot have their bodies bartered away."

Mrs. Wiley and other witnesses also declared that employers of under paid girls and women had not the moral right to give money to charities out of the earnings of their employees and they first had increased the wages of their employees.

Urges Early Marriage.

Dr. W. C. Woodward, health officer of the District of Columbia, urged the encouragement of early marriage among young men as one of the remedies for the social evil and he placed the responsibility for the down fall of 90 per cent of woman directly at the door of the men, rather than in the counting room of the department store or factory. He approved a suggestion of Senator Beall of Illinois of laws placing a tax upon bachelorhood, a graduated tax between the ages of 24 and 42, providing that all men over 42 years of age, should pay an annual tax of $100 as long as they remained unmarried.

Dr. Woodward presented some astonishing statistics among them that fifty per cent of the men as shown in hospital records of patients received for all causes, were diseased and that ten per cent were afflicted with loathsome disease.

"Unlawful places," said Dr. Woodward, "are the morasses from which these diseases come. State education is the best means of eradicating these places."

Dr. Woodward gave statistics showing that ten per cent of all the recorded births in the District of Columbia last year were illegitimate mothers between 14 and 20 years of age in the majority of cases.

Low Wage Not Cause.

Robert Barrett, speaking for his mother, Kate Waller Barrett, head of the Florence Crittenden Homes for girls throughout the country, took vigorous issue with the commission on the matter of low wages as a cause of vice, as did also Mrs. Adolph Kahn, of low Washington.

Mr. Barrett said that the Florence Crittenden Homes had cared for more than 20,000 wayward girls throughout the country and information from these girls showed that low wages was the least of the causes of immorality.

"We believe it is not right nor fair to say," Mr. Barrett declared, "that a low wage is the real reason for vice. There are more society girls, girls from good homes with

PATIENTS IMPROVE AFTER TREATMENT

NINE OF TEN SUFFERS TREATED ARE IMPROVED IN HEALTH

Physician Who Comes Long Distance For Treatment is Turned Away—Friedman Will Return to Germany For Short Time.

NEW YORK, MARCH 22.—Ten sufferers from tuberculosis who were inoculated Monday by Dr. Friedman declared at a clinic held by the Berlin physician today that their health has improved since receiving treatment. Before entering the clinic Dr. Friedman authorized an announcement that two weeks hence he will return to Germany for a brief period to complete unfinished laboratory tests. He will return to the United States, hopeful that by that time the government health authorities will have to recognize his vaccine as a cure.

The visiting specialist consented to an interruption of his demonstration today long enough to have Dr. John W. Brannan, head of Bellevue hospital, the city institution where the clinic was held, question patients treated five days ago.

Nine of ten patients reported they gained from three-quarters of a pound to four and one-half pounds since Monday. None had been troubled with night sweats since Wednesday. None suffered with hemorrhages since Tuesday. None had pains since Thursday and from Monday to Thursday felt their pains decreasing. Nine of them felt "better and stronger" generally.

Twenty-three sufferers were treated today. Eighteen have pulmonary tuberculosis and the others affect the bones. One was a two year old boy. Dr. J. S. Atkinson, a physician of Marionette, Wis., who walked miles through the snow to reach a railroad station on his way east, was refused admittance as a patient at the clinic today. Dr. Friedman was anxious to treat his fellow physician, but the tuberculosis committee of the hospital ruled against it on the ground that Dr. Atkinson is not a resident of this city. He is preparing to return home unless the Bellevue authorities overrule the tuberculosis committee.

CONDEMNED MAN MAKES MANY UNSUCCESSFUL APPEALS

Attorneys Are Exhausting Every Possible Hope in Effort to Save Life of Man Condemned to Die March 28.

Washington, March 22.—Appeal after appeal was made unsuccessful today to various members of the supreme court of the United States by attorneys for Claude Swanson Allen for a "trial of error" to review his conviction for participating in the Hillsville, (Va.) court house shooting. The attorneys claim their client has been "twice placed in jeopardy" for the same offense in violation of the federal constitution.

Chief Justice White, presiding justice for the fourth circuit, to which Virginia is assigned, first declined to issue the writ. This was a determination on his part that no reasonable claim to a federal right was involved in the case. The chief justice expressed himself as perfectly willing that the attorneys apply to other justices. That course was pursued. Justice Hughes was next asked to grant the writ. The attorneys declined to state what action Justice Hughes had taken, but after he had considered the case they started out to visit other justices.

Announcement was made that two of the attorneys would remain in Washington to resume their appeal in behalf of Allen on Monday. This would give them opportunity to apply if necessary to each justice in exhausting every possible hope of saving the life of the convicted man, who is condemned to die March 28th, at Richmond, Va.

Fathers and mothers able to provide for them amply, who have fallen into vice and to be inmates of Florence Crittenden Homes than wage earners. And very few who come to our homes blame low wages for their downfall."

CONCLUSION OF BALKAN WAR IS PROBABLE SOON

END OF BLOODY STRUGGLE APPEARS A MATTER OF ONLY A FEW DAYS

Turkey Has Trusted Her Interests With the Powers and Allies Have Accepted the Powers' Offer of Mediation.

LONDON, MARCH 22.—The developments of the last week appear to make the conclusion of the Balkan war a matter of only a few days. Turkey, having no hopes of obtaining more money has entrusted her interests to the good offices of the powers and the allies have accepted the powers offer of mediation. The representatives of the powers at Sofia today handed the Bulgarian premier their schemes, embodying basis for mediation. Their plan includes two provisions to which the allies will likely object. The demand for indemnity is vetoed and the powers stipulate that hostilities must cease when their proposals are accepted. It appears improbable however, that the allies will refuse to settle on the terms now offered. The war has come practically to a deadlock. Fighting on the Tcherafaj lines has been indecisive. Adriatic. The Bulgarians proposed to reduce to admission in a few days seems to be holding out as strongly as ever after a five months siege and a wireless message from there today declares that the Turkish commander has not thought of surrender.

Austria has sent a second note to the Montenegro, requesting that the bombardment of Scutari be ceased to the forts and giving one week for King Nicholas to comply with her other demands. Russia is not blocking the Austrian policy, and as the powers have agreed that Montenegro shall not keep Scutari, even if she conquers the garrison but that shall be incorporated in the new Albanian state, King Nicholas seems to have no alternative but to make a virtue of a necessity.

CONSIDER INCOME TAX

Democrats Will Discuss the Form of Income Tax at Caucus

ARE SPLIT ON ISSUE

Some Democrats Insist on Graduated Tax Income; Others Demand Straight Tax

WASHINGTON, MARCH 22.—Differences among the Democrats regarding the form of income tax will be threshed out at the coming Democratic caucus of the house. The substitute ways and means committee considering the income tax and the administrative sections spent most of today going over details but reached no conclusion as to either the rate or the extent of the exemption of incomes.

Some of the Democrats insist that there must be a graduated income tax and not a straight tax. Representative Gardner of Texas is one of these who will fight out the cause of the graduated form of the tax if the committee majority should agree upon a straight tax without attempting to graduate it so as to make it the greater percentage of burden rest upon the richer classes. Mr. Gardner is a veteran member of the house but one of the new members of the ways and means committee recently selected at the Democratic caucus. He stated tonight he believed 75 per cent of the members of congress, including some of the leading members favored a graduated tax, and that if the straight tax is agreed upon, he would fight for the graduated plan at the caucuses. His idea is on this basis of graduation of the tax.

One half of per cent on incomes between $2,500 and $10,000.

One per cent on incomes between $10,000 and $25,000.

One and one half per cent on incomes between $25,000 and $50,000.

Two per cent between $50,000 and $100,000.

Three per cent on all incomes above $100,000.

On Tariff Revision.

President Wilson hopes to do most of the fighting for tariff revision before congress begins its work early in April. The president is of the opinion that it is better to do the talking and fighting—if any is necessary—before the special session is far along, rather than allow differences of opinion to crop out as the tariff bill progresses through congress. He expects to give the administration backing to a tariff bill that will represent the views of himself and his cabinet, leaders of both the senate and house, and of the country at large as well. Within the next few weeks he will consult with party leaders frequently and as soon as the schedules of the Payne-Aldrich bill have been changed to conform to Democratic standards he will get together. With these leaders to determine upon the plan that is to receive his support.

The president is of the opinion that such a preliminary threshing out of the tariff bill will tend to smooth its path at the capitol and if any composes are necessary they can be made before hand. He wishes to see the force of the white house and those of congress united in an effort to pass tariff legislation on which they all are agreed.

Will Consult Leaders.

Not only will the president consult Democratic leaders before the special session begins and after it has started on its labors, but he will talk over with disinterested business men representing all sections of the country the proposed changes and their probable effect on various industries. The president does not intend to holding any hearings of the tariff, but from time to time he will confer with friends familiar with particular schedules. He already has held several such conferences and more will follow before April 7th. He is anxious to get the idea of the country upon tariff revision as upon other subjects, and will not hesitate to call in men in public life to obtain this information.

The tariff is foremost in the president's mind. He has no present intention of attempting to confine the activities of the special session to tariff only, but is inclined to the belief that it is better not to make out in advance any "administration program" of legislation which might be disarranged by unexpected complications.

He wishes to take up the tariff, take it up thoroughly and dispose of it well and he does not desire the public's understanding of what is being done to it to be troubled by thoughts of other legislation. If the tariff sailing is smooth, currency reform and other subjects regarded by the president as most important, may be taken up and put at least through their first stages before adjournment is taken.

CORN EXHIBIT ATTRACTS ATTENTION OF MANY

Prize Ears Shown at Farmers' State Bank & Trust Co., Were Gathered From Many States.

Mention was made yesterday of the interesting exhibit of corn types at the Farmers' State Bank & Trust Co.'s bank. After a great deal of trouble and at considerable expense typical ears from all parts of the country have been gathered into this exhibit, many of the ears being those which have won prizes in various states. The boys agricultural clubs are well represented and there are ears raised by growers of national reputation. In addition to the ears of corn which are attached to indexed cards the exhibit includes reports of the 1912 corn clubs, the forms of reports which the government requires members of the boys clubs to fill out and samples of the bulletins the government sends to the boys in the course of a season.

There are typical ears of Reid's Leaning, Johnson County, Boone County and ninety-day corn from the breeders in this section and the ears from other states can be classified as follows:

Several States Represented.
St. Charles White, Missouri; Iowa Gold Mine, Iowa; Wallace Favorite, Iowa; Legal Tender, Iowa; White Elephant, Iowa; Cornplanter, Iowa; Mammoth Iowa Yellow Dent; Hackberry, Kentucky; Calico, Kentucky; Big Red, Kentucky; Imperial White, far south; Gold Standard, Leaning, Ohio; Bloody Butcher, Gold Standard, Idaho; Gold Standard, far northwest; Yellow and White Flint, from New England, improved types of the corn which the Puritans used; Wisconsin No. 7, the production of the Wisconsin Agricultural Station, which is being largely planted in the north; Minnesota No. 13, bred by the Minnesota Experiment Station, the yellow corn which is being largely planted in the north; Southern Prolific, grown on Mr. W. T. Brown's farm in Prairie county, Ark.

Boys Corn Club Prize Ears.
Ears from the prize winning acres of the boys born clubs, conducted by the U. S. department of agriculture are shown as follows:

Ear Mosby's Prolific from 98 1-8 bushels grown by Willie D. Atchison, McCalla, Ala., at a cost of 16 1-2 cents per bushel.

First prize ear Johnson County White, from 150 bushels grown at a cost of 29 4-10 cents per bushel by H. D. Cornwell, of Douglas county, Illinois, the champion boy corn grower of Illinois in 1912.

Ear Reid's, from 150 bushels grown at a cost of 13 1-3 cents per bushel by Leroy Nichols, Highland, Maryland.

Ear from 145 41-100 bushels, grown by Herman Rucker, of Mason county, Illinois.

Ear from 122 6-10 bushels, grown by Ivan Houser, Farmer City, Ill., at a cost of 12 1-2 cents per bushel.

Ear from 140 2-10 bushels grown by Ethan Allen of Morgantown, West Virginia at a cost of 25 cents per bushel.

Special interest attaches to the ear from 148:55 bushels raised on one acre by Lester Bryant of Rockfield, Ky., at a cost of 12 3-4 cents per bushel. The prize was a trip to Washington and while in a hotel in that city the lad was asphyxiated. His corn is now being sold by the corn agriculturist of Kentucky at $1 per ear and the sum thus raised will be expended for a monument.

OBITUARY.
Mrs. Joseph Gaul of 808 West Lafayette avenue has received word of the death of her father, Thomas Jackson, on Saturday, March 15, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Cosner, at Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. Jackson was born near Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 22, 1838, and came to this country in early life. He was a veteran of the civil war and after the war returned to Illinois, where he engaged in the occupation of farming, living for a great many years in the Crackers Bend neighborhood and also in Greene county. While living in Crackers Bend he married Mrs. Mary Strickland, formerly Miss Mary Smith and to this union five girls were born—Mrs. Jacob Heltzender, Mrs. Joseph Gaul, Mrs. Harry Fies, Mrs. Glen Wiley, Mrs. Arthur Cosner. His wife and one daughter, Mrs. Heltzender, preceded him in death. For ten years he made his home with Mrs. Gaul until two years ago he had to go to California on account of ill health, where he lived with Mrs. Fies at Upland, Calif. At the time of his death he was on his way to Mrs. Wiley to Fresno, Calif., where they intended to live and had stopped at Los Angeles to visit Mrs. Cosner and his stepson, William Strickland, whom he had reared as his own. Here he suddenly grew worse and though every attention was paid him it was in vain.

Funeral services were held from the home of Mrs. Cosner and interment was made in Los Angeles with all the honors due a soldier of the civil war. Four daughters and his stepson survive together with four grandchildren and two step-grandchildren.

HUNTINGTON WILSON HAD LONG TRAINING IN DIPLOMATIC WORK

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Worthington Well Acquainted With Retiring First Assistant Secretary of the Department of State.

Huntington Wilson, whose resignation as first assistant secretary of state under Secretary Bryan is just now causing considerable newspaper comment, is an intimate friend of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Worthington of this city. As the newspapers have made clear Mr. Wilson resigned because of the action taken by President Wilson with reference to the United States' attitude toward the Chinese loan for which negotiations between the Chinese government, a group of American financiers and five European nations, had been in progress for a considerable period. The assistant had been handled chiefly by Assistant Secretary Wilson during the Taft administration and as the action taken by President Wilson was absolutely opposed to the policy which had been followed by the state department and such action was taken without any notice to the state department, the assistant secretary immediately resigned.

Mr. Wilson as mentioned above is well known by both Mr. and Mrs. Worthington. He is a son of Benjamin Wilson of Chicago and his father served in the Illinois legislature at the same time that the late Hon. J. L. Morrison was a member. It was at that time the Morrison and Wilson families entered upon terms of intimacy and later Mr. Worthington came to know the Wilsons. For a number of years Dr. Wilson, grandfather of Huntington Wilson was the U. S. minister to Belgium and as a young man Huntington Wilson spent much time there and evidently cultivated a liking for diplomatic work. He afterward entered Yale and when he finished his work there it was to enter upon important duties as assistant secretary to the American legation at Tokio. Not long afterward he became secretary of the legation and it was his splendid knowledge of affairs in the far east which led to his appointment as first assistant secretary of state under Philander C. Knox, formerly secretary of state. At the time of his appointment to that post Mr. Wilson who had returned from Tokio had all arrangements made to enter upon duties in the diplomatic service in the Argentine republic but was persuaded to stay in Washington. He would have preferred to go to South America at the time but finally consented to remain at the earnest solicitation of Secretary Knox. As Secretary Knox was away from the office a great deal, it so came about that all matters relating to the office except those of the very greatest importance were entrusted to Mr. Wilson and he has shown a remarkable capacity for solving the problems which naturally press upon the state department for solution as affairs move along.

One thing which has contributed largely to Mr. Wilson's success has been his ability as a linguist. He is exceptionally well versed in the languages and literature of France and Germany and speaks these languages fluently as he does Italian and Spanish. His familiarity with the Japanese language and his knowledge of the history and people of Japan as suggested above had much to do with his selection for the post which he has just left. A few years ago when Mrs. Worthington was in California she became quite well acquainted with the Japanese consul and his wife and when they found that she knew Huntington Wilson and was his God-mother they told her enthusiastically how highly Mr. Wilson is esteemed by the Japanese government and how the people there feel that he understands conditions in the far east as very few Americans and other foreigners do. Mr. Wilson has wonderful fluency in the difficult Japanese language and for years he made a special study of the country, traditions, people and needs and his familiarity with these things fitted him peculiarly for his position in the department of state.

You will find a rare and beautiful collection of Easter plants today at Hein's.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES.

Professor George P. Throop, who acted as one of the judges at the joint debate, was formerly professor of classics at Illinois college. He was a guest at the home of Professor and Mrs. Tanner during his sojourn in Jacksonville.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Academy of the Conservatory Alumnae association was held recently. At this meeting it was decided to have the annual reunion of the association on Saturday afternoon, June 7th. It is probable that the alumnae association will ask the faculty of the college to make the Saturday afternoon preceding the baccalaureate Sunday the fixed date for the reunion of the alumnae.

The college library has recently received a donation from the Reverend L. H. Davis, a set of the Universal Encyclopedia.

Invitations have been issued for an annual banquet, at the Colonial Inn Tuesday evening, March 25th for the purpose of organizing a local association similar to those now existing in New York, Springfield, Chicago and other towns. President Rammekamp went to Chicago Thursday evening to attend the meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools.

Where Details Count

It is not only in attending to big things that our trust department is more resourceful than an individual executor or trustee.

In painstaking attention to details its well organized, systematic operation is also a safeguard. Accurate accounting, periodic reports, carefully drawn contracts, detailed supervision, all have an important bearing upon the net results obtained for an estate.

And still this carefully safeguarded, scientific management of even the smallest estate costs no more than the haphazard service of the average individual.

TAX-PAYER GIVES VIEWS REGARDING PROPOSED TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL

President of Murrayville District Offsets Three Leading Objections to Proposition.

The following article was written by a heavy tax-payer in the proposed high school district and a man who is amply able to send his own children to a high school somewhere else, but a man who is first, last and all the time friend of all good school advantages:

"Once the proposition to inaugurate a township high school at Murrayville has been under way it has developed that misunderstandings concerning this proposition are multiplying daily and they are of such nature that they are bound in the end to be detrimental to the welfare of the public schools.

Three Leading Objections.

"Let's consider the three leading objections. In the first place if a township high school is not a good thing for a community then away with the township high school, we don't want it at any price; second, if a township high school isn't a public benefit, if it benefits only a few, then let that limited few pay the bill; third, if the township high school is a luxury and not a necessity and if it comes so high in price as to make taxation burdensome to the ordinary tax-payer, then it would be better to get along without it.

"In answer to the first objection it may be safely said that of the fifty or sixty township high schools in Illinois, not one has even been discontinued. The first township high school in Illinois was established at Princeton in 1877, and was as small then as the proposed high school at Murrayville now. It now has shown itself to be so valuable to the community that that community has demanded it to be made the best. It teaches everything called for in the state course of study, numbers between three hundred and four hundred students and collects $2,850 tuition per year from students outside its territory. The price of property has advanced a considerable per cent in that district and it grew from just such a humble beginning as is proposed to be made here, because the people themselves liked it. Other things being equal there is no contradicting the fact that if a man were intending to buy a farm he would pay more for one lying within the limits of a good high school, where the taxation was not heavy and where he could educate his children without sending them away from home.

Now Have Two Years Work.

"If the Murrayville community isn't now a desirable place to live then why is the price of property so high? It is because of its good church and school facilities and if either can be made better then this desirability is increased. Even in the Murrayville public schools there is not a high school at all, although it covers the first two years high school work, there is now a monthly tuition of more than forty dollars from non-resident pupils who might as well have the advantage of a township high school free of charge, were it established here.

"In answer to the second objection a township high school would be an advantage to the public generally. The district schools in this township high school district would, of course, continue just as they now are and just as fast as a pupil finishes the eighth grade in any of those schools, he would be admitted to this township high school free of charge and could continue his studies four years longer if he cared to do so, and could still stay at home. The total expenses of pupils from this proposed high school district who are today attending high schools at other places, would more than half support this township high school.

People Must Decide.

"It is vastly easy for a kicker to assert that the next move will be to erect a school building at $2,500 or any other figure that his imagination may dictate. This is untrue. The intention has never been to erect such a building unless the people of such district say so by their votes. It has simply been the intention to give this township high school a try-out and to make it just what the people want and such statements do not require a great deal of smartness on the part of the maker and are founded purely on selfish motives and they serve only to scare the ordinary tax-payer to such an extent that if he is not careful, he will go and vote straight against his own interests and thus cut himself off from advantages that he might otherwise have at a trifling cost. Investigate it, tax-payer. Look into it and if it will not bear investigation then turn it down. Section 119 of the revised school laws of 1912 plainly and positively prohibits school boards from purchasing or locating school sites, or purchasing, building or moving school houses, etc., without the vote of the people at a township election. The people must decide and a building cannot be erected without it. There is no trickery about the proposition. The people who favor a township high school are just as much interested in the expenditure of money as those who oppose it and they do so with the end in view that it will be a lasting benefit to the community.

Cost Comparatively Small.

"Probably not more than $2,500 a year would be necessary to carry a four year high school such as the promoters have in mind and this amount distributed over the forty-two square miles in the proposed high school district, representing a valuation of more than one and one-half million dollars (figures from the assessor and treasurer's office) would amount to a very trifling tax with an advantage to a great number. Figure it for yourself. At this rate is the township high school a luxury? Can we afford it? It is easily understood why a heavy tax-payer who has no children to send to school and who cared for me and my wife, my son John and his wife, us four and no more, would object. But why an ordinary taxpayer with a family of children to educate, a man to whom it could not make a difference of more than a few dollars, would fight such a proposition is hard to understand, when he considers the advantages of educating his sons and daughters and keeping them at home while doing so."

UNIQUE ADVERTISEMENT.

Miss Susan A. Draper has a copy of the Ulster Co. N. Y. Gazette of the date of Dec. 24, 1799. The paper has some interesting news of that time, and in its columns is related the death of George Washington. It contains some unique advertisements, among them the following in poetry:

"Luther Andres & Co. have this day, been opening goods both fresh and gay,
He has received some of every kind, that you in any store can find,
And, as I purchase by the bale, I am determined to retail,
For ready pay, a little lower, than ever have been had before.
I with my brethren mean to give, but as for credit, shall not give,
I would not live to rouse your passion, for credit here is out of fashion.
My friends and buyers one and all, it will pay you well to give a call,
You always may find me by my sign, a few rods from the house divine.
The following articles will be received in payment: Wheat, rye, buckwheat, oats, corn, butter, flax, ashes and raw hides. Cash will not be refused."

LUKEMAN BROS

Alonzo Myers, of Denver, answered a door bell while two witnesses were attesting his will. Because he was not actually present at that particular moment the will has been set aside by the courts.

Vermont has been eliminated from the "political barometer" class, by the adoption of a constitutional amendment changing the date of state elections from September to November.

A Chicago representative has introduced a bill to increase the pay of legislators to $5,000 per session, instead of $2,000. This in the face of the fact that this assembly has accomplished absolutely nothing since meeting in January, up to date.

There will be no more free lunches served in Missouri saloons, a law abolishing the custom having been signed by the governor, to become effective in ninety days. Saloon men asked for its enactment, endeavoring to place the responsibility, however, on "Mr. H. C. O'Living."

One good accomplished by President Wilson is a result of the uncertainty regarding the church he will attend each Sunday. It is claimed that there has been a large increase in the attendance of nearly all the congregations in Washington. Democratic office seekers in the city would more than fill the average church.

A bill abolishing the Chicago sanitary district, the canal board and the rivers and lakes commission, has been introduced by Representative McLaughlin. It creates a new commission, with greater power, including taxation, than all the others. This is a bill that should undergo the most careful investigation before adoption. The power of the proposed commission are almost unlimited.

A long way in the future dumb animals may live in palaces if the intent of a bequest recently made to four states is carried out. An escrow manufacturer has presented $1,000 each to the states of Illinois, New York, Indiana and Mississippi, to be held in trust for 250 years and three months, with interest at 4 per cent, compounded semi-annually, for the relief of poor and distressed animals.

Some years ago Edward Carter Perkins of New York, was the captain of an athletic team at Yale, and the training evidently unfitted him for a life of leisure. Completing his medical education and serving in different hospitals later, he has determined to dedicate his life and fortune to missionary work in China. He has bought a site and arranged for the erection and maintenance of a hospital at Kukiang.

Unexpected and vigorous opposition to the resolution recently adopted by our senate, providing for an investigation of unclaimed deposits in banks of this state, with the view of compelling the return of such funds to our state treasury. Senator Waage, author of the resolution, is authority for the statement that several millions of dollars are at present lying in the vaults of the banking institutions of the state, which rightfully belong to the state.

It was announced, authoritatively, we supposed, that real spring weather would begin Saturday, hence that reference to house and city cleaning. The publication of the article seems to have been a little premature, yet it would be well to bear in mind the suggestions made. We are now getting a beautiful assortment of odds and ends, of left-overs, of stormy days they failed to work in on the proper dates, in the proper season, a cleaning up of remnants. We may get a few warm, pleasant days in March, but its no sure thing. However, let the good work begin just as soon as this red-headed month of March permits.

Trunks have grown so large recently that the old joke regarding the baggageman, has ceased to be funny. When they became so unwieldy that they were with difficulty loaded through car doors the interstate commerce commission came to the relief of sweating, swearing baggagemen, and promulgated a rule that 45 inches should be the greatest dimension of any "regulation baggage receptacle," and carriers may charge excess for all receptacles exceeding that limit.

Without opposition from railroads an important measure adopted by the last congress has become a law, providing for a valuation of all the railway properties of the country, generally known as the "physical valuation" bill. The work begins at once, and $500,000 has been appropriated to defray the expense. Managers of railroads say they want this valuation, believing that the result will benefit their credit. They need money for betterments and say they expect to make a showing as to the actual value and the earning value of their properties which will warrant the issue of several hundred million dollars' worth of additional stocks and bonds.

"I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the republic for which it stands—one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice to all." This is the salute to Old Glory which every student in public schools and other educational institutions in Washington will have to give at least once a month, if a bill passed by the lower house becomes a law, and is from a wrong standpoint. Teach the children to love the flag, but do not attempt to compel them by statute. It reminds us of the old flag law in this state a few years ago, when school directors were compelled by law to keep the flag floating over each school house. The law was short lived.

The Bloomington Pantagraph remarks that politics are "not what they used to be in this country. It was rare in former days that a few men bolted a legislative caucus and refused to submit to the judgment of the majority, as now witnessed, for example, at Springfield. In those days a senator was chosen in short order as a rule. There was little or no deadlocking of assemblies through the defection of a few members who sought to compel the majority to come to them, rather than submit to the will of the larger number. Is this progress and is it any advance in securing true popular government? These are pertinent questions that thoughtful people naturally ask."

A new idea has been presented by an English physician that has at least the merit of being harmless. He claims one of the causes of cancer is a deficiency of potash salts in the body. This is brought about by the loss of potash through cooking of food and by the use of fine flour bread, refined sugar, and a deficient use of potash-containing vegetables, and that he has succeeded in arresting cancerous growths and in bringing cases to practical recovery by the use of citrates, carbonates, and phosphates of potash. If cancer is held on the progress aided by a diet that lacks potash, then, the doctor argues, cancer may be avoided or its progress impeded by a diet rich in potash. Potatoes especially are rich in potash, and so are cabbage, cauliflower, spinach, and all sorts of fruits, peas and beans.

Finding employment for the unemployed is a problem that the years have not solved. The National Bureau of Labor has just issued a bulletin entitled "Statistics of unemployment and the Work of Employment Offices." It is a digest of the facts presented by all the recent state and national reports, and is well worth careful study. The New York trades union reports, cited from New York Department of Labor bulletins, show that in 1911 from 11.2 to 34.2 per cent of the members of the unions were idle, the highest percentage being in December. In Massachusetts nearly 19 per cent of the membership of labor unions was idle at the last date reported, December 30, 1911. These figures prove that the facts developed by a commission recently investigating conditions in Chicago are not unusual, but rather representative of prevailing conditions.

A DIFFERENCE.

When a Republican president sat in the white house, and acted as a check upon Democratic tariff legislation, vetoing measures passed up to him for political purposes, says the Pontiac Leader, it made a great difference. Now that the congress is Democratic and a Democrat sits in the white house it is expected that all tariff bills passed up to him by the Democratic house will be genuine and not for any political purpose. The Hearst papers have already given warning to the Democratic congress at Washington that in shaping up a wool schedule they must remember that under the fleece is a mutton; that mutton is an article of food; that any legislation which will drive out the home production of the fleece will also drive out the production of the mutton. This country needs meat. There is already a shortage. An important item of the meat production is mutton. The Hearst papers recognize this, and they know that if mutton is to be eliminated or interfered with as a home product up will go higher still the prices for beef and pork. Hence the high cost of living will increase. The hint by these papers is very timely. The people will await with interest to observe whether the hint is heeded.

A SPECIAL CONVENTION.

A National Republican convention to revise the basis of representation in national conventions and to promote a re-united Republican party, appears a feasible method of adjusting differences. The Burlington Hawkeye says: "It ought not to be difficult of achievement, as Colonel Roosevelt and his third party insistently adhere to their repeatedly announced purpose to have nothing whatever to do with either of the old parties, but will continue to maintain an entirely independent attitude. Let the ex-Democrats and ex-Republicans who flocked to the colonel's standard follow him into the inevitable destiny of many other third parties in American history. Republicans who are Republicans from principle will have no difficulty coming together under the proposed plan of reorganization. The special convention will have no legitimate function in revising the last national platform, or in declaring new tenets of party faith; that is the appropriate work of the next regular convention chosen in accordance with the Republican vote in each state. The delegates thus chosen for the national convention of 1916, coming fresh from the hold on the 15th of April. Citizens and tax payers generally should make close study of the question from every angle—the present condition of the plant. If you find that a new plant is needed, then as to the cost of the proposed improvement. If you think the cost in cash too great, then a moment's thought as to the condition of the city in case the issue of bonds is voted

THE BOND ELECTION.

Only occasionally one hears the question of the proposed issue of $50,000 in bonds mentioned. At the present time few people seem to have any interest whatever in the matter. The election will be held on the 15th of April. Citizens and tax payers generally should make close study of the question from every angle—the present condition of the plant. If you find that a new plant is needed, then as to the cost of the proposed improvement. If you think the cost in cash too great, then a moment's thought as to the condition of the city in case the issue of bonds is voted down. It does not tell the whole story to say we are no worse off. There would then be absolutely no way of paying for improvements to any extent in the plant. Would the effect of the failure to furnish a means of raising funds be detrimental to the general interests of the city, or otherwise? Would it advertise to the world that we are principally engaged in internal strife and with out enterprise, or only emphasize our suspicion and distrust of each other. Voters should express themselves at the polls. Do not attempt to shirk responsibility by dodging the ballot box. Study the question from a knowledge of the needs of the city, with the one point of view only—what is best for the general interests of all the people of Jacksonville. Then vote as your own judgment dictates. Be your own judge. Do not let prejudice or politics or minor matters influence you. Vote for what you deem best for Jacksonville. The Journal is not interested to any greater extent than other citizens or tax-payers. It is a question not only of the lighting, but of the city. Every tax-payer could well afford to spend a few hours in intelligent investigation.

NEEDS OF A STUDENT.

While there is only a remote possibility that the author of the following letter could have been a student in a Jacksonville school, yet to prevent even that danger of misconception, we give the assurance of the Kansas City Star that it is a copy of a real letter written to his "dear mother" by a freshman at the University of Kansas:

"Dear Mother—I must have a gymnasium suit and a pair of tennis shoes; please send them to me. If I set them here I will have to pay for them out of my allowance. Also send along three ties, a pair of gloves, a laundry bag, and a lounging jacket—of course, I would not think of getting a smoking jacket. I am sending a pattern for a fraternity pillow, which please embroider and return. And, say, mother, kindly slip me a five occasionally, as dad does not give me a very liberal allowance. Now, you do not deserve this letter as you have not written this week, so I am not going to write you another word. Your loving son."

However, here is another one from Harper's Magazine that is just as good:

The inexperienced district school teacher had exhausted all other expedients for the maintenance of discipline. Going out into the school yard she broke off a good sized switch that was growing there, and administered primitive punishment to Jimmy Kelley.

There was strange expressions of horrified amazement on the faces of the children, and when school was dismissed at noon they gathered in excited groups and talked in whispers. Finally the teacher's curiosity could stand it no longer. Calling Henry Thomas to her she demanded the cause of the discussion.

"Why—why—why, teacher," he stammered, "that—that switch you flogged Jimmy with—that was the tree we all set out last Arbor Day."

Many will be in the churches of Jacksonville this Easter morning, to celebrate the rising of the Son of God from the grave, to listen to impressive music and to hear the story, told every year, but always new and enthralling, as earnest and eloquent ministers of the gospel tell of the man who suffered and died and entered the grave to save others. In nearly every soul there is a desire to know the mysteries of the grave and the beyond, that leads them, each year, despite the race for dollars or place, to study anew the story of the crucifixion and the promise for the future.

We lose sight, perhaps, of His teachings and of His example in the many distracting duties of life. We are led astray and neglect the words of the Christ, and that he has marked the path we should travel. His sermon on the mount is as a dead-letter.

"For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged." And yet from our own petty little place and narrow point of view we judge and condemn. Often with little knowledge of the troubles and trials and temptations of others. We judge and condemn, perhaps, without an effort to put ourselves in the other fellow's place, or to consider that what are temptations to our brother may not appeal to us. The teachings of Christ while on earth are full of words of charity and of peace.

Let us on this anniversary of the day, when the text of so many sermons is "The Risen Lord," deceive not ourselves. "For the son of man is as a man taking a far journey." Looking into our own hearts, attempting to judge ourselves, from the standpoint of the believer, are we doing all we can?

Not all the time—that would be expecting too much. Form your judgment of others only after a little heart-to-heart talk with your own conscience. Have a little charity for those who do not live just as you may see the way—they may be just as honest in their desire to gain the reward hereafter, but unable to see through your glasses.

"Watch ye then, therefore, for ye know not when the master of the house cometh." Let us endeavor to lead a life such as will entitle us to a hope of a reward, at least, and, if we are honest with ourselves and with our neighbors, if we remember that "golden rule" that we have all been taught, and put it into practice, so far as in us lies, we may not fear, "Lest, coming suddenly, he find you sleeping."

A forgotten poet has said:

How does God send the Comforter?
Oft times thro by-ways dim;
Not always by the beaten path
Of sacrament and hymn;
Not always thro the gates of prayer,
Or penitential Psalm.

How will God send the Comforter?
Thou knowest not, nor I.
His ways are countless as the stars,
His hand has hung on high.
His roses bring their fragrant balm,
His twilight hour its peace,
Morning its splendor, night its calm,
To give thy pain surcease.

The association of eggs with the Easter season is said to be of pagan origin, back in the days of superstition. Ages ago the Egyptians regarded the egg as the emblem of re-creation, or of the renovation of the human race after the deluge. The idea originated with them from studying the habits of the scorpion, or sacred beetle, which buried its ball in the grave dug by itself. Not knowing that the ball contained an egg, when the young beetle was hatched, supposing it to be the one they saw disappear in the earth, they concluded that it had again returned to life. Thus arose the hope of resurrection of their mummified bodies, and when they later found that the burial ball contained an egg, the egg became a symbol of resurrection.

The ancient Persians had a legend that the universe was hatched from an egg at the time of the vernal equinox and among the Persian Magi, or priests, the egg represented recreation. In accordance with this tradition, the Persian New Year began at the vernal equinox, at which time it was the custom of the people to present each other with eggs tinted red, yellow or sky blue.

In Germany the Easter egg plays a part in a story told children to the effect that if they are good, a white hare will creep into the house on Easter eve and hide a number of beautiful eggs for them in odd places. The familiar sight in American windows of rabbits wheeling loads of eggs originated in the German myth, the rabbit replacing the hare because of the scarcity of the latter in this country.

Some Christians of the present time, knowing nothing of early traditions, suppose that the use of eggs at Easter originated with the early Catholics, who, returning at the close of the Lenten season to their favorite food, expressed their joy by decorating the eggs. The truth is, that when the early Christians began to observe the resurrection of Christ, they preserved the old association of eggs with the equinoctial season and the idea of resurrection. At first the only color used was red, signifying the blood shed by Christ, but, by degrees, this idea was lost, many colors were used, and, in time, the connection between Easter eggs and the resurrection was forgotten.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS' PRIZE.

Boys' corn clubs are being conducted in several counties and districts in Illinois. As an additional incentive to the boys of Morgan county, the county commissioners of Morgan county offer a prize of one hundred dollars to the member of the Morgan County Boys' Corn club if any whose acre scores high enough to win first place among the Boys' Corn Clubs of Illinois, that is the champion boy corn grower of Illinois, provided he is a member of the Morgan County Boys' Corn club and the commissioners hope that a Morgan county boy may win the championship of the state of Illinois for the year 1913.

A GREAT DEFECTRESS.

Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., bequeathed to posterity such a legacy as few women leave behind them. This woman, gifted with a knowledge of the medicinal virtues of roots and herbs, won lasting fame by her discovery of a priceless medicine to relieve women from their sufferings and thousands of American women, now well and strong, claim they owe their health and happiness to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

To Farmers and Stock Raisers

We are now manufacturing under State License, the best Brand of hog food on market known as "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD". It is far superior to any Brand of Hog food on the market to day. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906, Serial No. 47,673. Guaranteed analysis as follows:

Crude Fat . . . . . 10.00 to 14 per cent
Crude Protein . . . . . 52.50 to 60 per cent
Crude Fibre . . . . . 1.00 to 3 per cent
Phosphate . . . . . 10.00 to 12 per cent

What Is "Sure Fatten Hog Food"

It is a dark colored granular meal, made from meat residues, and it supplies the protein and phosphates necessary for compounding a balanced ration in most economical and palatable form.

It contains phosphates in proper proportion to insure strength of bone and frame work. In the corn belt bone development is a matter of serious consideration.

It is not a substitute for corn, but a small quantity fed in connection with corn or other grains gives a balanced ration.

It is the most economical source of digestible protein known, containing twice as much protein as oil meal and five times as much as maddings, shorts, shipstuffs, or alfalfa meal.

TANKAGE is recommended by all leading experiment stations.

It is packed in one-hundred-pound burlap sack, plainly marked "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD," analysis as above. It is the ideal feed to balance rations.

What "Sure Fatten Hog Food" Tankage Does.

It develops bone and muscle in young pigs and makes them grow. It matures a hog for market in two and three months quicker than corn alone, thereby, saving one third of the feed bill, one third of the labor, one third of the risk, increasing profits one third.

It grows better proportioned hogs, more meat, a d more fat, hence market-topper hogs. SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD TANKAGE fed hogs ship well with small shrink.

While in nowise a medicine, it so fortifies and strengthens the system against attacks of disease germs that SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD TANKAGE fed hogs are universally healthy hogs.

CHATS WITH GREAT MEN OF THE CIVIL WAR

By Mrs. Gen. Pickett.

Copyright, 1913, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York Evening World.)

COM. MATTHEW F. MAURY

The man who had explored the bottom of the great deep and marked out a safe pathway, who had saved over fifty million dollars annually to the commerce of the world, who had been made honorary member of the most learned societies in Europe and decorated by Kings and Emperors was making wreaths of clover for the little children gathering around him at the Yellow Sulphur Springs in Virginia just after his return from England, where he had opened a school for torpedo instruction.

Though the subjects to which he had devoted his life seemed as remote as possible from the idea of flowers, he had a deep love for them and often came in with his hands full. As I looked at him, peacefully surrounded by children and clover blossoms, I was reminded of far different scenes with which he was connected in my mind, and I remarked:

"Commodore, I remember you when we were stationed on the Howlett House line and the lower James was guarded by the torpedoes which you had placed there, to the consternation of the Federal gunboats."

"Yes," he replied, "I invented the torpedo for harbor defense and hope and believe that I did keep the Federals from going up the river."

He spoke of the close of the war and the incidents immediately following.

"No, it was not because our profession was gone nor for money, nor for the sake of employment that we went to Mexico. We were led by sympathy with poor Maximilian and the desire to help him in the regeneration of Mexico. We who had so longed to help ourselves when we were a struggling nation reached out to aid some one in like position. But I am glad, Pickett, that you felt the ties holding you back. For with your great tender soul your heart would have been broken by the misfortune of Maximilian, his betrayal by his friends and the sad fate of the gloriously beautiful Carlotta, though their sorrows were so great that they tempered our grief for our lost nation."

I quoted: "One nail drives out another at least."

"What do you know of nails? And yet you have already had many tragedies in your short life. You must forget them and keep in your heart and mind only the happy suggestions there in your brochure," looking at a pin I was wearing containing two exquisite figures of joyous childhood.

"It is beautiful and I prize it, for it represents the only thing that was saved from the wreck of the old Pickett home on the James, which was sacked and burned by Butler in '63. When this picture, which had been framed in gold and blue velvet, was being carried out of the house the miniature dropped out and was picked up by our old fisherman, Uncle Tom, and saved for us. One day, after we had made a new home there, Uncle Tom requested us to 'seemle ourself on de po'ch, as he had a 'heritance' he wanted ter 'best'." When we 'seemled ourself on de po'ch, as he had a 'heritance' he wanted ter 'best'." When we 'seemled ourself on de po'ch, as he had a 'heritance' he wanted ter 'best'."

"Den I 'cluded ter let de wives 'cide which was ter git it. De first visit I maked wuz ter de 'younges' chile's house, en he say: 'Ung Tom, I done got married since I seed you.' 'Yar, suh,' I say, 'I hyeered al 'bout it.' 'En I got de fines' wife in de work.' 'Yas, suh,' I say, 'I hyeered she wuz mighty fine.' 'Den he call her out, en she say, 'I moughty glad ter see you, Ung

Tom, I'se done hyeered a heap 'bout you.' 'Yas'm, en I'se done hyeered a heap 'bout you, too. Den she say, 'Ung Tom, don't you want a dram?' 'Yas'm, ole nigga allers wants a dram.' 'En don't you want sump'n ter eat, Ung Tom?' 'Yas'm, ole nigga allers hungry.' Den she went 'long in de house en come back wid a glass full er toddy en a plim' plate er vittuls. En I say ter my'self, 'De 'younges' chile's wife gwine git dat 'heritance, sho'."

"Den I went 'long down ter Marse Gavage's house, 'en Marse Gavage say, 'Ung Tom, I done got married since I seed you.' En I say, 'Yas, suh, I done hyeered you did.' En he say, 'I got de nices, prettiest' wife you ever seed.' 'Yas, suh,' I say, 'I done hyeered she wuz mighty pretty.' Den he call her out en she say de same t'ings Marse Charley wife say, en she ax me, 'Don't you want a dram, Ung Tom?' En I say, 'Yas'm, ole nigga allers wants a dram.' En she say, 'Don't you want sump'n ter eat, Ung Tom?' En I say, 'Yas'm, ole nigga allers hungry.' Den she say, 'Well, go ter 'long back ter de dinin' room, de bottle's on de side-board. He'd 'yosef', en tell 'Mandy ter cut yo' off all de tuckey en ham you kin eat en gib you anyting you want.' Den I says ter my'self, 'Dat 'heritance 'longs ter de oldes' chile's wife, after all.'"

"My soldier had the gold around the little picture made into bracelets for de 'younges' chile's wife, and the miniature set in a pin for me, so that both wives had a share of 'Ung Tom's' bequest, which had been given to Gen. Pickett's grandfather by Lafayette."

"You know," said the Commodore, "I made my first voyage on the Brandywine when she was sent to carry Lafayette to France, and that voyage, for many reasons, was the most memorable of my life. I did the first work on my 'Treatise on Navigation' on that voyage, made my diagrams and chalked out my plans on the round shot."

"Your wife and President Arthur's were related, were they not?" I asked.

"Yes," he replied, "he married Ellen Herndon and I married Nannie Herndon. And without knowing it, we had the same motto, 'Mizpah,' engraved in our engagement rings. You know, I never gambled more than once, and then I put my last stake on one chip. I gave the clergyman who married us my only $10, and won the greatest fortune that ever a man had."

The children that gathered around him then with the love and confidence which childhood intuitively gives to a friend have passed from youth to age. Life has brought them many changes, but the varied years have been brightened by the memory of the airy stories of the sea told them by the scholar who laid aside his great work to revel in their youth and gladness and make them happy in the dreamland of flowers and legends.

As a professor in the Military Institute in Lexington his last years were spent in quiet research and in giving to the world the rich fruits of his adventurous and laborious life. In his last illness, in response to his wife's wish to take him to Richmond for burial, he said:

"I don't care where you put me, but don't take me through the Goshen Pass till the rhododendrons are in bloom."

When the beautiful pass was a glory of bloom the commodore was carried through the flowers that he loved shedding blessings on him all the way.

ROUTT COLLEGE H. S. BASKETBALL SQUAD-SEASON 1912-13.

Routt college high school recently ended a very successful basketball season, winning seven out of eleven games played. This record shows quite a marked improvement in the squad, as the year before they won only four out of nine contests.

The team will lose only one man by graduation this year, Alexander, and with the splendid showing of the men during the past season, the school has promise of a winning team the coming season. Groves, Butler and Donovan, are the veterans of the squad who will remain. Sheehan, Wheeling and Caldwell had their first experience with the purple and white during the season just closed and all of them developed remarkably well. While it is not an assured fact, in all probability Coach Hickson will return next year, and the players are hoping that he will, because it was under his able coaching that they developed such good team work and playing ability.

Drunkennness Is a Disease and We Can Cure It

It was at Dwight, Illinois, that Dr. Leslie E. Keeley made his famous declaration: "Drunkennness is a disease, and I can cure it." It startled the world, and aroused the incredulity of millions. BUT IT WAS TRUE! And it brought new hope and new life to thousands of despairing souls and suffering homes.

400,000 Men Saved From Drink Disease

Since that memorable day—thirty-two years ago—400,000 men have won the victory over liquor through the Keeley treatment. And thousands more are daily breaking their chains and "getting a fresh, clean start."

Dr. Keeley proved, conclusively, that drunkennness is a disease caused by constant use of alcohol, wherein "the nerve cells have become so accustomed to performing their duties and functions under the influence of alcohol that they are dependent on it and will no longer perform those duties and functions properly and painlessly except when under its influence."

We also cure Opium, Morphine and other drug addictions. The drug is withdrawn gradually and there is no shock, collapse, prostration or sickness. Full particulars in plain, sealed envelope on request.

The Famous "Keeley Cure"

The Keeley treatment—known the world around as "The Keeley Cure"—is simply the application of reconstructive nerve tonics which restore the nerve cells to their normal, natural condition.

The treatment produces no sickness or nausea. It demands no restriction or confinement of patients. It has absolutely no ill effects.

Home Remedies are prepared and sold by us for the cure of the Tobacco Habit and many forms of nervous troubles. Send for printed matter today.

We have a Chicago office, Suite 906 Rector Building, 79 W. Monroe Street, where arrangements may be made.

Result of "The Keeley Cure"

The effect of the Keeley remedies is to absolutely destroy the craving and appetite for drink. The man who takes the Keeley treatment is no longer called on to fight an appetite. The desire and necessity for alcohol is gone.

And the cure lasts! Hear what men say who have been saved:

"This is the twentieth anniversary of my reformation and release from the bondage of the Demon Rum. Completely cured—the occurred appetite never to return."

"I took the cure twelve years ago—Drink is no longer any temptation to me."

"This is the eighteenth anniversary of my graduation at Dwight. No matter what rises I never think of whiskey."

"Words cannot express what I feel in my soul for the God-given saving institute at Dwight, Ill. I haven't the least desire for drink any more than I had never tasted it."

We have many, many thousands of letters like the above.

SOCIALIST LECTURE Monday March 25

of Independence, Missouri, one of the prominent lecturers in the Socialist movement, will deliver the last lecture on the Socialist Lyceum Course next Monday, March 24, at 8 p. m. at Socialist hall.

Mr. Garver is the author of many books and pamphlets, which have had a large circulation among people interested in Socialism. Local Socialists are elated because they can announce that this important phase of Socialism, the movement, will be explained by such an able advocate.

Mr. Garver said that the whole movement of the industries for the last fifty years has been toward concentration. He contended that on account of this fact, the public can protect itself against the dangerous power of the small number of men who own and control the sources of our national wealth, only by owning the industries themselves, and operating them for the benefit of all of the people.

Mr. Garver is one of the most prominent lecturers in the Socialist movement. His tactful and pleasing manner of addressing people not of his political faith, always gains for him the respect and interested attention of the opponents of Socialism.

HUNTING WILD DUCKS IN ILLINOIS

Local Sportmen Tell Something of the Habits of the Fowl That Entice Them to the River.

Canvas backs, mallards, pin tails, black jack, ring bills, blue bills, teal, read heads and still others of the wild duck species are names which are full of meaning to sportsmen. They may not be scientific names perhaps but every sportsman hereabouts who is familiar with the river and lake haunts along the Illinois, and Sangamon bottoms knows the names by heart.

The days will not be long now for spring duck shooting as the ducks are protected from April 15th until September 1st. That is the reason that local sportsmen have been taking advantage of every duck chance during recent days and weeks and chance is the right word to use because the changing weather has made hunting very uncertain. Ducks that are now found along the river or up on the lakes near Bath and Sadoria are there making a temporary stay during their migratory trip to the north. While the weather remains cool and they find something to eat in the sloughs and marshes they will remain but with a sudden turn of warm weather off they go to the north.

Charles R. Knollenberg is one of the most successful of local sportsmen when it comes to bagging ducks and others who are devotees of the sport are C. P. Thompson, T. A. Chaylin, Nelson McMurphy and J. A. Groves and they will fill you full of information. There are some of the facts they will tell you and which ever one of the men you ask they will tell you about the same thing although they will vary as to favorites in the duck world.

The mallard is the best river or fresh water duck in the world if that honor was not shared by the blue wing teal. Perhaps it would be well to describe the mallard as the best all round duck, the staple as it were. The mallard and the teal behave nicely in the field, that is they come in freely to decoys but both test the skill of the sportsmen, though the mallard is somewhat larger and so the easier mark. But while you are talking about mallards and teals do not forget the canvas back ducks for there are many hunters who will tell you that for good points the canvas back is certainly entitled to the crown. Canvas backs are deep water ducks and seek their food in entirely different way from the mallard and shoal water ducks which in a way are similar to tame ducks in that they get their food by diving, disappearing completely from the surface of the water and re-appearing with food in their mouths. Their main food is a bulbous plant. There is a great delicacy of flavor in the taste of the canvas back no doubt resulting from the character of the food they eat.

In shooting canvas backs over decoys great judgment must be displayed in laying out the decoys, selecting the place and building the blind, the desire at all times being to place yourself as nearly possible to the place where they habitually feed. Cold blustery days are the best for then the ducks are least suspicious. While they are exceedingly wary and blessed with eyes of the keenest perception yet they are full of curiosity and while at times they will not come in without much coaxing at other times they rush in with great recklessness. Others of the breeds have special characteristics but in the general methods hereabout for bagging them are the same.

Only part of the ducks mentioned in the first paragraph have arrived here this season as they vary somewhat with the weather. Practically the only duck which breeds here and so remains all summer is the wood duck. Its meat is fine and tender and it is a comparatively easy bird to shoot. Talking about wood ducks one of the sportsmen mentioned said yesterday: "They are said to build their nests in trees but in all my hunting days I have never seen a nest or have seen any very young ones of the wood duck variety. The nests of most ducks are made in the marshes and sloughs. The mother duck first moulds her nest by sitting in it for a time and working her body around and then it is carefully lined with feathers and grasses. A duck will set on a dozen or more eggs in such a nest and while the surroundings are not such in which the tame duck or chicken would flourish yet the young wild ducks seem to like the conditions under which they come into the world and are ready the first day for the water and mud.

"In shooting ducks a hunter is compelled to be marvelously careful even of the colors he wears and any man who has shot ducks often will tell you to dress as nearly as possible in colors like the foliage or the general surroundings. I went hunting a year or so ago with a man who got too hot and took off his coat. He wore a white shirt and for hours we lay there in blind trying to get a chance at the fowl. They kept circling about us in a tantalizing way but never got near enough for a shot. Finally I persuaded my partner to let me go by myself to a point a hundred yards away. I had on a hunting jacket and I landed in just the right place to get many a good shot at the ducks as they circled away from the man in the white shirt.

"A sportsman gets to be very diplomatic, wary, foxy or whatever the term is you want to apply. If I go to a place where there are lots of ducks feeding and strike them early in the morning I never begin shooting at them but instead I arrange to disturb them in some way and to frighten them off from the feeding place without shooting. Then it will not be long until they begin to drop back in pairs and larger companies to feed and I can get shots at them without worrying or frightening away the others in the same big flock or family. Feeding ducks corn is a practice under some circumstances. Let a wild duck get the taste of corn once in a locality and he pretty apt to stay around looking for more food of the same kind until he meets his fate. Corn seems to have a delicacy of flavor or something almost intoxicating about it for the wild duck get the habit or rather the craving for it after one or two feedings at the most."

PACKEY ACCEPTS RICHIE'S CHALLENGE

WILL MAKE WEIGHT OF 133 IN ORDER TO MEET PRESENT CHAMPION.

Although McFarland Has Accepted Champion's Defy to Meet Him in Ring it is Doubtful if Men Ever Meet—Leach Cross a False Alarm.

By James J. Corbett,
Former Heavy-Weight Champion of the World.

(Written For Jacksonville Journal.) Can Packey McFarland do 133 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and give a good account of himself in a twenty round bout at 9 o'clock in the evening? Packey says he can, and to prove it has accepted Willie Ritchie's defy. But McFarland adds that he will make weight for nobody but the champion.

Packey's weight has been one of the great mysteries of professional pugilism for several years past. He agreed to 133 to get a match with Ad Wolgast when that young man held the title, but as the bout was called off the public remained skeptical of his ability to make it and be in condition to put up a good argument. Evidently McFarland knows just what he can do and his willingness to accept the terms and conditions of Ritchie's proposal without a kick or protest of any kind will act as a silencer on the critics who have insisted that he is no longer eligible to fight in the light-weight division.

At that I doubt if Packey and Willie ever meet. They would make the ideal match, much better than the proposed Ritchie-Wolgast or Wolgast-McFarland affair. Both boys are clever and of practically the same school and represent the best there is in scientific boxing. But Billy Nolan is too shrewd to pit Ritchie against his former teacher before he had a chance to corral an easy purse or two, which is recognized nowadays as one of the privileges to which a new champion is entitled. There are any number of light-weights who are easier than the peerless Packey, and as Nolan knows the ropes pretty well he will no doubt find some plausible excuse for avoiding the match if it ever comes to a show down. And, between you and me, one can't blame him very much from a business, if not a sporting, point of view.

Leach Cross' admirers are now touting him for the light-weight championship. There is no denying that as a result of the recent victory over Joe Mandot his stock has boomed. But Leach will never become a champion. In the first place I doubt if his heart is in the right place. He is like many another "near-champion." Give him a mark and he boxes like a world beater, but put him in front of a good man and he fights more like a dub. If anyone will take the trouble to look in the dope books he will find Cross has not been the most consistent boxer in the world.

The detailed reports or the Cross-Mandot bout do not make Leach out the great fighter his press agents represent him. He was on the losing end until a lucky one connected with Mandot's jaw. Of Leach's hitting power there is not the slightest doubt. He packs a hefty punch, and let him once get the other fellow going and he sails in for keeps. But anyone who has ever boxed or who has followed the sport closely knows that the element of luck frequently figures prominently in a boxing match, and I judge Leach to have been a fortunate young man in the Mandot encounter. Many a boy has had victory within easy grasp only to lose through carelessness and over confidence.

Cross will be put to the test in a few weeks when he takes on Joe Rivers in a return ten round bout. I rather fancy Rivers will do even better this time, although he put up a corking good battle on the other occasion considering the handicap he was under in lack of familiarity with the rules in vogue here. Mandot while a fairly clever boxer is not a hard hitter. Rivers is a combative youngster, who can give and take the hardest knocks, and answer the bell for more. He can hit harder, if anything, than Cross, although Leach punches hard enough to bring home the bacon. Joe is not invincible; he can be knocked out as Johnny Kilbane showed us, but I imagine he is a bit too hard a proposition for New York's foremost light-weight. If Leach succeeds in defeating Rivers, I'll take my hat off to him and admit he is the right sort, but I'm from Missouri, and having seen him in so many mediocre battles, am inclined to regard his latest victory largely in the light of a fluke.

While on the subject of light-weights and championship possibilities it might not be amiss to call attention to Bud Anderson, the young western "phenom" who gave such a splendid account of himself in last Saturday's twenty round contest with "Knock-Out" Brown. Making allowances for comparative inexperience Anderson's showing was every bit as creditable as that of Joe Rivers in his stopping "Kayo" in eleven rounds. In fact, Bud came close to duplicating Joe's stunt as he twice put the New Yorker to the floor in the eleventh and had him practically out when the gong came to the rescue.

Of course, "K. O." is not of championship class, but he is as strong as a young bull and a hard man to lick decisively. Rivers is the only one who stopped him, though with a bit of luck Anderson would have duplicated the feat. As it was Brown's recuperative powers enabled him to rally and by forcing matters in the last round earned a draw, which decision, if reports are correct, was hardly fair to Anderson.

Another light-weight who has been attracting considerable attention lately is Pal Brown, a product of Hibbing, Minn. In the middle west the experts have already selected this boy as their candidate for the light-weight honors. Pal has beaten few top-notchers, but his friends claim that lack of opportunity explains that. He has done everything asked of him to date, and his work among the second raters has been little short of sensational at times.

It didn't take long for Gunboat Smith to put Bombardier Wells in the "also ran" class—about four minutes of actual fighting and it was over, and the Bombardier's name wiped from the list of aspirants for the heavy-weight championship.

It was a battle between a rugged fighter and a clever boxer with a frail physique and the fighter won. Wells' lack of stamina is difficult to explain. His is a puzzling case. He trains faithfully and always appears to be the picture of health and strength. In this last fight it was established beyond any doubt that he is not cut out for a successful boxer, or rather fighter for he certainly knows more of the scientific end of the game than the rest of the bunch put together.

With Wells eliminated from the situation there remain but three white heavies in whom the sporting public has any faith. These are Luther McCarty, Jess Willard and the Gunboat. Of the trio McCarty looks the best on his victories over Kaufman, Flynn and Palzer. Neither of the others has defeated men of the standing of the men mentioned. Willard, it is true, earned a popular decision over McCarty at the Garden last summer, but at a time when both were novices. Unquestionably McCarty has improved immensely since that time. Willard, too, has been going along fairly well, but has not met a man of the class of the trio on whose defeats McCarty bases his claim to recognition.

Smith's sole aim in life now, according to his manager, is a match with Luther McCarty. The "white champ" was among those present at the slaughter of England's hope, but failed to say whether he would give the Gunboat a match or not. Luther doesn't appear to be anxious to box anybody. Business with the "troupe" must be picking up.

It is a pity Al Palzer is not in New York. I think O'Rourke made a big mistake carting his big fighter away on what appears a hopeless quest of a fight with Johnson. Interest in the heavy-weight situation would be heightened if Palzer were back on the job. A match between him and Gunboat Smith for example, would look very attractive and draw an immense crowd. Palzer is a boxer who needs lots of work to do his best. He is not gifted with any great degree of scientific knowledge and relies on speed and strength to win his battles. A fighter of his type must therefore always be in the pink of condition. Gymnasium work will accomplish much for him, but what Palzer needs most is the experience to be gained in the ring. He is wasting much valuable time waiting for Johnson—it looks a hundred to one that the black will not be able to keep the engagement. At least not at the appointed time.

Remarkable Catarrh Cure

Gets Right into the Affected Parts and Stops Gathering in Eyes, Noes, Throat and Lungs.

By a long series of elaborate experiments at the Swift Laboratory it is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antitoxin remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that actually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with the food elements to enter the circulation in less than an hour. You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infests the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 per bottle. It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, rash, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, boils and all scrofulous conditions. For special advice on any blood disease write in confidence to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. at your druggists.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES.

Comparatively few students are at the college Saturday and Sunday, the majority of them being away at the Easter recess. Several members of the faculty are also away for Easter. Practically all the students and faculty are planning to attend the Schumann Heink concert, to be given Tuesday night at the opera house. President Harker has returned after several days' absence. While away he attended a meeting of the North Central association, held at Chicago.

The concert given by Miss Miller Monday night was attended by a good audience and was thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Miller's work was especially pleasing, and the work of Director Swarthout as accompanist was most satisfactory.

Next Saturday, March 29th, will occur the annual candy sale of the Phi Nu Society, and on Monday night, March 31, the Belles Lettres play will be given in Music Hall. Both of the society plays are always well done, and it is hoped that a good audience will be present on this occasion.

BULLS IN CONTROL OF WHEAT MARKET

COLD WEATHER DISCOURAGED BEARS DESPITE PERFECT OUTLOOK.

Price is Hoisted For Effect on Foreign Exchanges—Expectation That Bad Roads Would Delay Movement of Corn Caused Firmness in That Grain.

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, MARCH 22.—Leading bulls were plainly in control, hoisted the wheat market today presumably for effect on foreign exchanges after Easter. The close was firm, ½ to ¾ @ ½ net higher. Other leading staples too, showed an advance as compared with 48 hours before. Corn ¾ @ ¾ to ¾, oats ¾ to ¾ @ ¾ and provisions 12½ to 13c.

There was not a great deal of selling opposition to the upturn in wheat. Cold weather discouraged the bears despite the fact that experts were unanimous in reporting on the outlook as nearly perfect as it could be at this session. Wheat bulls had a freer hand because wire conditions permitted quotations from outside points. It was also figured that the natural effect of the storms would be to lessen arrivals at the principal railroad terminals.

Primary receipts of wheat for the day, however, could not be told exactly, as statistics were incomplete. Total seaboard clearances of wheat and flour for two days equalled 439,000 bushels (Baltimore missing), against 187,000 bushels for one day a year ago.

Expectation that bad roads would interfere with movement of corn caused firmness in that grain. Later there was an easier feeling on account of advice that railroad facilities east were being overtaxed and corn shipments were being held on demurrage.

Delayed seeding of oats sent prices in that market up. Lightness of hog receipts caused firmness in the provision list. Nevertheless some selling developed on the theory that there would be a liberal run of storm-delayed arrivals next week.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF STOCK MOVEMENT

SPECULATION STILL LABORS UNDER BURDEN OF UNSOLVED DIFFICULTIES.

Operations Make Light Requirements For Money—Enforced Abandonment of U. S. S. P. Dissolution Plan Influence Market.

NEW YORK, MARCH 22.—The dull stock market of this week showed that speculation was still laboring under the burden of unsolved difficulties. The program presented by the enforced abandonment of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific dissolution plan was not wholly unexpected, but there was room for its further reflection in additional declines of prices. The release of credits tied up to meet the obligations of the underwriting syndicate probably had its part in the slightly easier tone of the money market early in the week. This was the more welcome because of the renewed demand upon New York gold supplies which tightened the call loan market.

Stock market operations made very light requirements for money. The prolonged Easter recess in prospect increased the disinclination to make commitments or to leave existing contracts open. The latter disposition accounted for some covering up on shorts at the last. Pressure upon borrowers proved especially costly to holders of some of the so-called "good will" stocks, which were objected to in collateral. Necessitous selling of these developed a thin market and some severe declines resulted.

Preparations for the April money settlements abroad continued, Berlin drawing on London for the most part, and Paris on New York. The urgency of the requirements was shown by flow of gold against adverse exchange conditions which had to be covered by extra interest allowances.

New York passed on the pressure to the country at large by transferring loans to interior banks. While exports of merchandise for February were about stationary at last year's value, imports expanded over $15,000,000 with corresponding impairments of the trade balance in our favor. Cotton exports continued to decline and the grain trade betrayed nervousness lost assurance of peace may induce some re-offering of foodstuffs which were brought in over supply while war threatened.

The approaching spring promise of the country's agriculture and sustained commercial and industrial activity were helpful factors. Labor problems kept up an under-current of anxiety.

SUCCESSFUL BLACK-

SMITH WORKER.

Jerry Leary, who is conducting a large and successful blacksmith shop at Arnold, has been in that business for a great many years. For a quarter of a century he was in business on West Morgan street the greater part of the time for himself and for seven years in charge of a shop belonging to R. Walton. Afterward Mr. Leary engaged in business elsewhere and for several years he has been located at Arnold. He recently installed the latest equipment for disc grinding, polishing and grinding rolling cutters and plows and his shop is certainly the place to get the very best work in general blacksmithing of any kind.

The Value of a Guarantee

The words "We Guarantee" our goods are often heedlessly spoken but not so at this store. We guarantee each purchase to be of the quality represented because first of all we are careful in selecting our stocks and for the added reason that if anything we sell is not just as represented we count it a favor to be called upon to make good our guarantee of quality. SELLING GROCERIES WITH A GUARANTEE means simply telling the truth about them and warranting to customers that goods sold will be found just as represented. Our guarantee goes with every purchase and is a protection to you.

WELLS STILL PRODUCTIVE.

Eight Barrels Daily Being Taken Out of Mahon Oil Well.

Although little has been heard from the oil region northeast of this city, which was the occasion of an oil boom for several months, the wells are still productive. Four days pumping was made the past week on the James Mahon well, the first one to be shot in the county, and it averaged eight barrels per day. The one on the Davies farm has also been pumped the past week and averages about 6 barrels per day.

There are those who will have considerable faith in the Morgan county oil field and it would seem that, from the showing the wells are making now, that there is a flow of oil in that region. As has been noted before that the oil is of a splendid quality, as branded by oil authorities who examined it, and the only thing needed is more oil. It is not at all unlikely that before the summer over, that prospectors will again send the drills down and make further investigation of the fields.

SHIRTS IN EVERY NEW STYLE AND MATERIAL FOR MISSES' AND LADIES WILL BE FOUND AT STRAUSS' EMPORIUM.

SLAYER OF MRS. REED

FORMERLY LIVED AT BETHEL.

It has been learned that Cecil Dickens, alias E. H. Reed, who recently shot Mrs. Reed and then committed suicide was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dickens who live at Bethel, Ill. Dickens was about 29 years of age and his first wife was Miss Minnie Thompson, a sister of Gilbert Thompson, who was a former well known butcher of Chapin, Ill. It is understood that she got a divorce from her husband last year.

Mrs. Reed who was shot was formerly Miss Radford, who resided near Nortonville. She had married John Evans, a farmer who resided in the northeast part of the county. It is understood that she, in company with her sister, Miss Oleta Radford went out to Denver, Colorado, last August. Charles Radford, a brother of the deceased, as has formerly been stated went out to Denver, and a brother of Mr. Dickens also went out to investigate affair. It is understood that the slayer and his victim will be buried in Denver.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Chicago fans are out with a petition demanding that Mr. Murphy meet Archer's salary demands and sign him up at once. Those Cub fans are in no mood to be trifled with and if Charles J. is wise he will heed their demands. And besides, Archer is worth every cent of what he asks and Murphy very well knows it. Also it would not tax the club's treasury to any great extent to come across with the amount. Archer is the world's greatest catcher today and the only first class man that the Cub team has. This is not knocking Bresnahan. It is figured that Roger has seen his best days and was acquired for trading purposes.

Now comes from Pittsburgh the news that Artie Hoffman has regained his old time Cub form and will be the regular center fielder for the Pirate crew. Important if true. In his day Hoffman was about the most sensational fielder that ever crawled into a uniform. Clark is confident that the Pirates are to be in it from the jump this season. Let us hope so. There is no more deserving manager in the big show than this same Fred Clark. Fourteen years in the front ranks is something to be proud of. The hole at first base that has never been filled since Bransfield's day is bothering Manager Fred, but there is a chance of its being satisfactorily filled this year.

Down in Redland the fans are in their usual state of excitement. Remember how last year it was all fixed up before the bell rang for Henry (how "Hank" does hate that name) O'Day to walk right up to the front of the procession and stay there. And the Red chieftain did the walking act all right, but unfortunately neglected to hold the position. At that O'Day gave the Cincinnati fans a grand run for their money and left the nucleus of a great team for Joe Tinker to tinker into a winning combination. Joe's first move was a wise one. He let Larry McLean go to Louisville. While there is no question of Larry's being one grand backstop he has unfortunate traits of character that went go under modern managerial methods. Cincy is still weak behind the bat but has a chance to develop some good material. The box is only fairly well supplied. The infield is strong. The outfield is only so so. About sixth is where the Tinkers will land at the wind up.

It was Uncle Anson who started the training stunt toward the southland. Thirty years ago he was taking his men to Hot Springs for preliminary work. Not the whole team but usually the battery men. He was giving a stickler for early seasoning and this had much to do with the great success his teams had in those days, 1882-1886. Anson is still living and is now 71 years old. He is still vigorous and would play a fair game right now if called upon. He is doing a vaudeville stunt in which he tells stories of the diamond and also does a song and dance. He is in California at present a guest of his old time center field star, "Big Bill" Lange. Bill is now in the real estate business and prosperous. Fred Pfeffer and Jimmy Ryan are about the only members of the once great White Stocking team still living besides Anson. Both are in business in Chicago and are well fixed. Billy Sunday must of course be mentioned, but he hardly qualifies as a regular, being more of a utility outfielder. This was because the present evangelist wasn't quite heavy enough with the willow to displace Ryan, Dalrymple, Gore or Kelly. But later on he was right up in the front ranks and held his place till he quit the diamond for the pulpit. By the way, Billy is now at his height of a religious campaign at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and going strong. He has about turned the fifty year mark and his latest photograph shows the result of the strenuous life he is leading. He has lost the boyish, buoyant expression that he wore when with us a few years ago and looks somewhat worn and haggard. But he is able to win 'em as of yore. Witness over fifteen thousand converts at Columbus and something over twenty thousand dollars as a free will offering for the six weeks he put in.

Springfield Three Eye circles are in the doleful dumps. The club recently promoted an indoor circus to raise funds for the training season and instead of returning a profit the club found itself six hundred dollars deeper in debt. The promoters are making desperate efforts and the papers are literally on their knees begging the fans to whack up and save the game for the capital city.

The Illinois campus was the scene of an exciting game yesterday afternoon. Captain Felix Farrell's husky Cornhuskers showed Captain Freddie Lucas' aggregation of future Cobbs and Matthews, Wagners and Walter Johnsons that they had much to learn before they dared tackle such a formidable conglomeration of talent as the Shuckers. The score was something like 16 to 7. Coach Harmon immediately got busy and the Blue and White will no doubt try to snatch the laurels from these proud Agriculturists before the training season is very far along.
